Riding the Train

At the Museum of Life and Science, there is a train.
It is called the Ellerbe Creek Railway.

If there are train tickets available, my _____
and I will buy a ticket to ride the train.

We will wait in line for our turn to ride the train.

We will give our tickets to the attendant.

We will choose a seat on the train.

There will be lots of other people on the train.

I will stay seated and keep my hands and feet inside the train.

All aboard! The train ride will begin!

We will go through a tunnel, and some people may scream and make noise for fun. I can scream, too, or I can wear headphones or cover my ears if it is too loud.

We will go around the track two times.

We will come to a stop at the station house.
The train driver will tell us when we can get off the train.

Thank you!

We can thank the train driver as we walk by.

Riding the train is FUN! 😊
